

From the Heart

Words and music by Bob Reid

Life is a song to be sung from the heart
Listen closely and you'll hear it singing
Let's join our voices together and let it come
From the Heart

There will be times when you will sing alone
There will be times when you'll join in the chorus
Feel what happens when everyone joins in the song
From the Heart

You've got to sing it yourself
It can't be sung by anyone else

Some songs are short, while some others are long
What really matters is that you are singing
Fill the world with the music that you have to give
From the Heart

Whether you're singing solo, or duet.
You have to fashion your own precious melody
Taking turns trying to find the right harmony comes
From the Heart

You've got to sing it yourself
It can't be sung by anyone

When your singing has come to an end
When it seems that you've run out of verses
Hope that the others who heard you remember you sang
From the Heart

Life is a song to be sung from the heart
Listen closely and you'll hear it singing
Let's join our voices together and let it come
From the Heart 3x
You must have these. I think you did them
